NICK VACOS GETS
33-YEAR SENTENCE

Court's Action Amazes Prisoner, Who Expected to Get a New Trial.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Ogden, March 12.—Regretting that brought in by the convicting jury he could not consistently pronounce life sentence, Judge J. A. Howell of the district court today sentenced Nick Vacos to thirty-three years in the state prison for the murder of John Contos in this city last April.

Bouyed up by the hope that the court would grant a new trial, Vacos entered the court room smilingly. Two minutes later, when the court had briefly denied the motion and ordered the defendant to stand up for sentence, Vacos was on the verge of collapse. Following the sentence and the sharp denunciation that accompanied it, he sank to his chair with his face in his hands, completely broken down. Attorney Samuel King, for the defense, filed notice of appeal.

Vacos was found guilty of second degree murder February 5, following a trial in which pleas of self-defense and emotional insanity were entered. Vacos shot John Contos in the latter's candy shop, following a bitter quarrel over a mortgage held by Contos against Vacos.

EVANSTON BLAMED FOR SMALLPOX EPIDEMIC

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Ogden, March 12.—That the town of Evanston, in Wyoming, is a common source of contagion to Ogden by reason of the prevalence of smallpox there under lax quarantine laws, is the claim of sanitary inspector Moroni Poulter in his weekly health report. He says that the only two new contagious diseases reported this week are those which developed in the city jail, both of which have been traced to Evanston. Several other cases of smallpox among railroad men operating on the Union Pacific between Ogden and Evanston.

Felt So Sore
Couldn't Walk
Down Stairs—

TIZ Cured Her Quick

If you have sore feet, tired feet, swollen feet, lame feet, tender feet, smelly feet, corns, callouses or bunions, read what happened to Mrs. Crockett, of Jeffersonville, TIZ DID IT. Mr. Crockett says: "After the second treatment she walked downstairs one foot at a time. She has not been able to walk downstairs before in past five years, except by stepping down on each step with one foot at a time. This is remarkable. Send five more boxes."

No matter what ails your feet or what under heaven you have used without getting relief, just use TIZ. It's different. It acts right off. It cures sore feet to stay cured. It's the only foot remedy ever made which acts on the principle of drawing out all the poisonous exudation which causes sore feet. Powders and other remedies merely clog up the pores. TIZ cleans them out and keeps them clean. You will feel better the first time it's used. Use it a week and you can forget you ever had sore feet. There is nothing on earth that can compare with it. TIZ is for sale at all druggists, 25c per box, or direct, if you wish, from Walter Lugo, Dodge & Co., Dodge Bldg., Chicago, Ill. Recommended and sold by Schramm-Johnson.

"THE CLIMBERS" FROM LOGAN TO PLAY HERE

Agricultural College Dramatic Club Will Present Clyde Fitch's Society Drama.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Logan, March 12.—Arrangements were made with the management of the Salt Lake theatre by the dramatic club of the Agricultural college for the presentation of "The Climbers" Saturday night, March 19.

After four months of steady, systematic work the U. A. C. players presented Clyde Fitch's society drama, "The Climbers," before two large and appreciative audiences in the Logan opera house. The first performance last Friday night was given especially for the benefit of the townspeople. The second, on Saturday night, was student night. Every seat in the opera house was taken and many extra chairs were provided on the second night. Roses and carnations were passed across the footlights to the leading women of the cast, while the house rang with college songs and cheers.

The selection of "The Climbers" for the U. A. C. players is somewhat of a daring departure from the average student dramatics. The students won much praise in their roles. Miss Ormsby, Mr. Major and Mr. Otto had the arduous task of representing the emotional roles. The work of all three was, throughout the play, thoroughly artistic. The comedy work fell to the lot of Miss Nibley, Mr. Goodwin and Miss Hansen. Artistic and effective acting was done by Mr. Kerr and Miss Hendrickson. The ensemble of the performance was not marred by a single weak part. What particularly impressed many of the women in the audience was the lavish display of magnificent costumes. "The Climbers" is a play which must be elaborately gowned in order to be fully appreciated. The costumes of the A. C. players left nothing to be desired. In appearance, as in actual histrionic value, they were infinitely superior to those brought here by the average traveling company of professionals.

This was the great dramatic event of the year, but several of the school societies are still working away at amateur theatricals. The Agricultural club members expect to present shortly a farce based on Mark Twain's essay on "Editing an Agricultural Paper" and the Social girls are contemplating the presentation of two of William Dean Howells' literary farces.

Why The Herald-Republican
Gives Premiums:

The mainstay of every newspaper is its circulation, as the greater the circulation the greater is the amount of advertising patronage bestowed upon that paper.

Our coupon system of giving premiums is conducted solely for the purpose of building circulation.

The Herald-Republican already has by far the largest circulation of any paper in the State of Utah, but it is still going after circulation. By this coupon plan the clipper is given an opportunity to get valuable premiums at a price far below the actual cost. We buy these articles in large lots, and then we shave the factory price enough to make a particularly attractive offer to the coupon clipper.

It is never too late to start clipping coupons—one number is as good as another, as long as you miss no numbers after you start. The numbers must be consecutive.

Is the Republican Party Lying Down?

The party—its platform, its ticket from top to bottom, its orators—was prolific of promises during the last presidential campaign. It needed votes. A few men have earned the title "insurgent" for insisting that pledges be redeemed, but the other fellows, the absent-minded ones, seem to have the greatest pull with the powers that be. The public has waited and hoped, and still waiting, but hardly hoping, is getting mad. The public has not much definite information on which to base its anger, but it is doing some close guessing. Well, here's the information. Alfred Henry Lewis begins in PEARSON'S MAGAZINE for March a series of articles which sets forth the whole story. He shows in the first story that certain high officials are not bad all the way through—rather they are weak. As he says, they are "Oliver Twists whom the Bill Sykeses of Money stuff through the open window to open the public door." And he proves it. Read this story. If you are interested in your own government, reflect on it, and prepare yourself for intelligent action when the next "promising time" comes around.

How Women can stop the "Great Black Figure." This magazine printed a story in February on a subject which has been long tabooed in speech. Many women asked what women can do about it. Mrs. Belle de Rivera tells. She is president of the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs, a representative woman who believes that woman should no longer remain ignorant and inactive about a matter which so closely affects herself. Does Mill Labor injure the Children of the South? If it does not, a lot of tears have been wasted by carry-overs and charitable writers. A governmental investigation has just established that the mill children are infinitely better off in the mills than they would be at home. Figures prove it. Here are the facts and figures.

Is Woman's Suffrage Coming? The suffragists say it is, the anti-suffragists say it isn't, and the anti-suffragists outnumber the suffragists about ten to one. Richard Barry tells why women oppose votes for women, and he gives the first definite conclusion and careful study of what the woman's suffrage movement really means.

The First Result of Boston's Elaborate Political Reform is described by George P. Anderson. Boston spent several years reforming itself. It established a charter and election plan which absolutely removed politics from its government. It held the first election under the new plan in January. The result was astonishing, and gives much thinking material to the reformers of all cities.

Clara E. Laughlin tells of the work that is being done to reform the girls of the street. A splendid story which points a way in which people with money may do the world a real service.

The Effect of Prohibition on Business Property as exemplified by the experience of the State of Kansas is explained by Harrison L. Beach, an impartial observer.

For Fiction there are Short Stories by Jack Haynes Gilmore, Beale R. Hoover, E. Phillips Oppenheim, Clarence E. Mulford, Zoe Anderson Norris, Ared White, Owen Oliver and Edith Rickart. A wonderful magazine, alive with information and entertainment.
